Support groups for families after the loss of a child

A leaflet for families

We understand the effects of grief can be overwhelming and parents, carers and families can be left feeling dazed, disorientated, isolated and exhausted. It can be hard to take in information or to make decisions. There is support available. Many parents find meeting others too painful to bear but for those who wish to receive support, this leaflet may help you to find the right support for you and your family.
